Decaying wall

Contractor Jerry Merwin knocks more boards off the outside of the curling rink wall. The club was forced to repair the south wall of the facility after two studies said the wall was ready to collapse. Merwin said the original estimate of $12,000 to repair the wall is high after they discovered it wasn't as decayed as the reports had predicted. The club is trying to fix the wall before the fall trade fair in the building.

Paniec leaving mid-September

Town Councillor Bill Paniec will be leaving Drayton Valley in mid-September.

Paniec, who is employed with Amoco, has been transferred to Calgary. He came to Drayton Valley in 1980 after an eight-month stay in Calgary. Prior to that, he worked with Amoco in Fort McMurray and Edmonton.

The transfer, which was unexpected, came as the Paniecs were building a new home in Aspenview.

Bill Paniec

"We'll miss the place," Councillor Paniec stated during his appearance at last Thursday's town council meeting.

While admitting things are not too rosy in the oil patch, Paniec added, "We wouldn't have built here if we didn't believe in the community."

Paniec believes the town has a bright future. "I believe Drayton Valley will maintain and show growth," he stated last week.

He pointed to the new Sturdi Wood strandboard plant, road construction, agricultural and the plants out west — for his optimism.

During his six-year stay in the community, Paniec spent three years on town council and was very active with the curling and golf clubs.

Resident wins a car

Jerry Pichion scratched a Cadillac.

No, he didn't scratch an actual car but he did win one through the Super Loto "Scratch a Caddy" promotion.

Pichion, a Drayton Valley resident, was visiting Prince Albert when he bought the $10 ticket and revealed the prize.

"I may sit in it but it's too fancy of a car for me," he said, adding he's putting the luxury car up for sale.

Pichion said he was surprised but happy about the prize. The employee of Manalta Coal says he often plays Lotto 649 and has had small wins before.

"I'm still after the million," he added.

Jerry Pichion holds a copy of his winning ticket.

Matthews wins cash in 649

Billie Matthews was one number away from collecting more than $600,000.

But the 72-year-old resident of Drayton Valley did pick six right numbers in a recent Lotto 649 draw and collected a cool $38,960.40.

"It's not that much but it's enough. I wouldn't want to win the millions stuff," she said before heading off to the bank to deposit the money.

Matthews found out about her big win at D&W Confectionery several days after the July 26 draw. She bought the ticket at Penney's drug store, where she usually purchases two Lotto 649 tickets each week.

"It was just lucky," Matthews said about picking the right numbers. But Matthews is "terrified" of flying so she had her daughter Jill Gebhardt, who she lives with, fly to Winnipeg to pick up the cheque.

Gebhardt said she was treated "first class" by the lottery officials in Winnipeg. She added they seemed really excited about the win.

Her mother was also excited about the win, but only after she got the cheque in her hands.

"Once I had the cheque I knew it must be okay," she said.

Matthews said when her daughter first told her she had won she thought it was a mistake. Matthews was waiting for her daughter at the airport when she returned from Winnipeg and said that's when the win really sunk in.

Fish and wildlife officer

Onofrychuk transferred

By Lorne Christensen

Don Onofrychuk is heading north.

The local Fish and wildlife officer has been transferred to Slave Lake effective September 1.

"I'm looking forward to going up there," Onofrychuk said about the move. The move will mean a larger territory for the eight-year veteran officer. As district officer here he ran a one-man operation, in Slave Lake Onofrychuk will be in charge of an area about 15 times larger including a junior officer and STEP officer. He will also be sharing his office in Slave Lake with a fisheries biologist and fisheries technician.

"It'll be different," he explained, pointing out he will be dealing with more commercial fishermen and more trappers than he did in Drayton Valley.

But Onofrychuk admits he will miss the people he has met while in Drayton Valley.

"I really enjoyed it here. It'll be sad to leave this place," he reflected, pointing out two of his five children were born here. His wife Jolayne trained as an RN here and will be pursuing that career once they settle in Slave Lake.

"I hope that (I see Lake is as good as this place. I'm sure it will be," he added.

Onofrychuk admits he was suprised about being transferred to Slave Lake but is looking forward to the challenge of learning a new, larger area.

Don Onofrychuk is headed for Slave Lake.

It isn't the first move for Onofrychuk who spent two years as a park ranger before becoming a fish and wildlife officer eight years ago. During his eight years he has moved from Fort McMurray to High River and then spent the last five in Drayton Valley.

When Onofrychuk arrived here as district officer five years ago there was no fish and wildlife office here.

"It was a real experience; we started everything from scratch," he added.

The local office also lost their receptionist last week. Susan Lee had to move to Cardston after her husband, Cpl. Chris Lee with the RCMP, was transferred.

"I would like to thank all our employees and the customers who supported us over the years."

Dial Oilfield changes hands

Six months ago Drayton Valley's Dial Oilfield Services passed the 200,000 invoice mark.

Now, owners Myron and Angeline Halushka have sold out.

Effective July 31 Halushka no longer owned the company that he was with for over 20 years.

Four local companies bought out Dial as Halushka said it was "time for a change."

"I was in it for so long that it was time for a change," Halushka said, adding the sellout didn't really have anything to do with the slowdown in the oilpatch.

"I had a chance to sell it," he said, adding he was anxious to get out of the business after so long.

Halushka says he'll "sit still for one year and also maintain other interests." Halushkas have lived in Drayton Valley since 1960, and plan on remaining here.

"There's no better place to live than in Drayton Valley," he added.

The new owners opened the business again on August 1 with most employees remaining on staff.

Fire chief's duty brings back memories

By Lorne Christensen

It's just after midnight. Everyone's asleep.

Then the beeper goes off.

There's a fire north of town and the fire chief's car heads out of town, towards the blaze.

But wait, it's not regular fire chief Sheldon Fuson behind the wheel. Instead it's Roger Nelson.

Nelson, who recently retired from Amoco after 29 years, was acting fire chief while Fuson was on holidays recently.

The duty brought back memories for the former fireman who originally trained Fuson before he left the volunteer department three years ago.

"It changes your whole life," he confessed, pointing out he has to "babysit the beeper" as a fireman.

Nelson says the temporary two-week duty reminded him of the many things associated with the serving as a volunteer. Things like having your fire fighting clothes handy, thinking of the fastest way to get to a fire, never getting in lineups with the fire chief's car and having the beeper with you at all times.

"There's a lot of tension you don't realize," he added.

For Nelson the duty as acting fire chief was a busy one. He had only one fire during the two weeks, the one at midnight. But he also coordinated the fire department's efforts in helping with the sandbagging at the water treatment plant.

Before Fuson left the two sat down and went over some of the procedures, said Nelson a 10-year member of the Drayton Valley fire department.

Now that Nelson is finished filling in as fire chief he plans to go back to work after taking the summer off. He worked for 29 years at Amoco and look early retirement from his job as maintenance foreman recently.

"I'll try to find a full-time job somewhere," he added, pointing out he wasn't going back into the oil industry.

But the extra spare time has meant Nelson has the time to "get caught up."

"I'm doing things now I've wanted to do," he explained, pointing out he can now work more on his hobby of sculpturing.

Nelson will also be able to spend more time with his "five and a half" grandchildren. He and his wife Camille have two sons and one daughter along with five grandchildren and one on the way.

Roger and Camille Nelson at home.

MacLeods store planning change

MacLeods are going back to the old system.

In the wake of financial trouble, MacLeods have announced a number of changes.

And Dan Goretzky, owner of the MacLeods store in Drayton Valley, likes what the company has planned.

Bill Chalmers, who was recently appointed chief executive officer with MacLeods feels the company can return to profitability by the end of 1987. They lost $4.6 million on sales last year and similar losses are also being projected for this year. He has embarked on a harsh campaign of cost-cutting while refocusing on business strategy.

Chambers says the company will better display its traditional products, giving more prominence to its hardware/houseware lines.

Goretzky says it was that line that made MacLeods so successful eight to 10 years ago.

As a result of a new attitude, the Drayton Valley manager sees a better supply of hardware and houseware lines, more name brands, better selection and the return of the MacLeods catalogue in the spring of '87 after a two-year absence. The company is also talking about a 'hot line' for farm supplies.

Goretzky met with MacLeods' new chief executive officer in May and says, "He (Chalmers) has built a lot of confidence into the company." An example of a new man on the job was evident recently when MacLeods' farm buyer out of Winnipeg, visited the Drayton Valley store. "He wanted to know what was happening." Goretzky explained.

Crisis brings out the best

"Tough get going" after the flooding

A crisis often brings out the best in people.

The most recent heavy rains and flooding was evident of that.

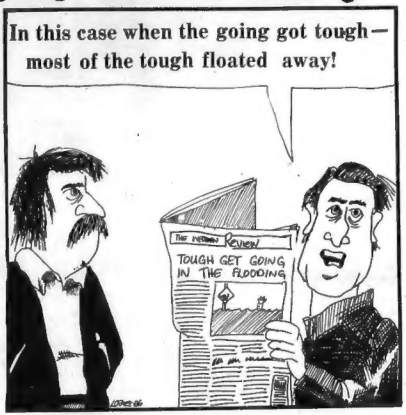
Don and Bonnie Barr had lots of reasons to walk away from their rented home on the Pembina river. Cliff and Barbara Paprotki could've very easily thrown in the towel at the Lindale Golf and Recreation Park and the McMillans, Gordon and Joan, had every reason to walk away from their retirement home at Lindale.

But they didn't. Instead of even mentioning the possibilities of leaving the area, all the talk was about cleaning up the mess and getting on with their lives. And, that seemed to be the case with everyone we either came in direct contact with, or heard about.

The McMillans, both in their mid-60s, were an inspiration. Faced with losses between $50,000 and $75,000, they hurried about their yard and home, seeing what could be saved, and what had to be repaired. They even did this while the Buck and Modeste creeks continue to rage in the background.

If anyone was feeling 'down' from the recent crisis, a trip out to the McMillans' retirement home in the Lindale Golf and Recreation Park will no doubt provide the lift you'll need.

There's an old saying that "When the going gets tough, the tough get going." That certainly was the case here.



Flood copies wanted

Congratulations to Bredin on her win

It's easy to understand why MOVING is one of those dreaded jobs in life.

Last week we helped Lance Grosko and his family move to Edmonton. It wasn't bad loading the truck out of his trailer, but all those stairs in his new residence, was tiring. Every time we talked about moving, my wife just shook her head. It's a job she has looked after in our house for the last couple of moves.

******

Also on the move is chamber secretary Bonnie Barr, who moved back to Grande Prairie last week. Karen Kirkwood is her replacement.

******

Our July 22 issue that included photos and stories on the flood conditions was a 'big' hit. Just about every one of our dealers sold out and our office had numerous calls for extra copies. Some residents even came in looking for the negatives of the pictures our staff photographers captured.

******

A tip of the hat to Ray Ellis of the Breton area who participated in the most recent Edmonton Klondike Days parade with his Ray's Rams entry. Good job Ray.

******

Congratulations are also extended to Shannon Bredin, Drayton Valley's outstanding highland dancer. She won the under-13 category at the Expo championships in Vancouver.

Kerry Gladstone inpects a questionnaire.

Questionnaire

STEP workers are at dump sites

By Bryan Gallion

Some people like it, while others can't stand it.

That's the general feeling the Town of Drayton Valley is getting from users of the municipal landfill and transfer stations.

Kerry Gladstone is one of about a dozen STEP workers who will be manning transfer station sites around the area, questionnaire in hand, asking seven basic questions: What do you think about the landfill operations? Does it provide the necessary service? Do you think the hours of the transfer stations should be controlled? Do you think the hours of operation at the main landfill are adequate to provide the service? Is the transfer station designed to provide ease in dumping? Is it maintained properly? Is this location easy to find and convenient?

In addition to the questions there is a space provided for any extra comments not covered by the questionnaire.

Gladstone reports that some of the people he's surveyed prefer this new system to the old while others don't.

"Some people don't like it at all," he said. "They say it's too late now to ask questions and that they should've asked before they brought in the new system."

Residents register for flood assistance

Stan Harbin had to miss supper last Friday night.

Harbin, a field services officer with the Alberta Public Safety Service was in Drayton Valley taking flood registrations. In two eight hour shifts, Harbin and Uve Terner registered close to 150 people.

"It was much busier than I anticipated," Harbin, a Camrose resident, stated last Friday night, about 90 minutes before their temporary office in the County of Parkland building closed. It was so busy Friday that Harbin couldn't get away for supper.

Everyone who registered will be contacted by an assessor.

Harbin says people registered everything from fields to homes, culverts and bridges. He even admitted that some people sat before him in tears as they told of what the heavy rains and flooding had destroyed.

Problem in town

Shoplifting is criminal offence

By Lorne Christensen

Six months behind bars.

That's the maximum sentence for shoplifting anything valued at under $1,000.

And anything means anything.

It could be as small as a piece of candy or as big as a television.

Shoplifting anything over $1,000 could result in up to two years in jail.

"Shoplifting falls under the theft section of the Criminal Code: theft is theft, it's a criminal offence," says Cpl. Chris Lee with the local RCMP.

Cpl. Lee points out Drayton Valley merchants do have a problem with shoplifters. He recalled one case where a group had gone into a store and walked away with stereos and televisions.

"From time to time we get people coming in (to town) simply to shoplift," Lee adds. He says about once a year they get a ring of shoplifters in town that "can clean a community out."

But Lee points out most of the shoplifting problem in town is confined to the younger crowd, who often steal on a dare from their peers or because they can't afford the item.

Cpl. Lee said shoplifters will sometimes re-sell the item or even go back to the store and try to return the item they stole for a refund. Lee said this "angle" is usually used by adults.

Another problem merchants face with the adult shoplifters is protecting the backrooms of stores. Lee said a pair of shoplifters will go in to a store and while one distracts the clerk the other will attempt to get into the back area.

"They have to keep a close eye on their customers," he added.

Keeping a close eye is the one defence the RCMP recommend. Lee says merchants have to be aware in watching over the store.

Merchants in Drayton Valley have been quite successful in catching shoplifters, he added. In 1983, 13 cases of shoplifting were reported to the RCMP; that figure rose to 19 in 1984 with 14 cases of items under $200. The statistics for 1985 and the first quarter of 1986 are hard to compare to the previous years because of the change in the Criminal Code. As of 1985 the code was changed and divided into theft into over and under $1,000. In 1985 there were 14 cases under $1,000 and five cases over $1,000. In the first quarter of 1986 nine cases of shoplifting were reported to the local authorities.

"An awful lot are disposed of by the merchants themselves," Lee says about the cases that are never reported. He points out some store owners will let the offender off with a warning or call the parents. When it is reported to the RCMP they investigate the matter and will take the shoplifter to court if the complainant requests it.

"If they are charged, they are brought in for fingerprinting and photos," says Lee, pointing out the person would then have a criminal record.

"We don't distinguish between theft in the oil patch and shoplifting — theft is still theft," Lee says.

Consortium

Application deadline

Are you planning on taking a course at the Pembina Education Consortium in September?

If you are, the consortium needs your application by Aug. 12.

Joe MacLellan, the consortium executive director says it's imperative that people who plan on taking courses, get their application in by that date. After that date, the consortium will have to hire instructors and finalize equipment needs.

MacLellan urges people to pick up application forms and get them into the consortium office by Aug. 12 and avoid disappointment. "We need those applications. We can't do anything in a space of a few weeks," MacLellan cautioned.

Courses are filled on a first come, first serve basis and MacLellan reminds people that some courses have limited room. One of these is clerk typist. Although it's a new program, 30 applications have already been picked up at the consortium office, open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Their phone number is 542-5850.

For the second year in a row the registered nurses assistants course has attracted a lot of interest. Only 11 people will be accepted for the 10-month course from a list of 90 applicants. Last year, 35 people applied.

Time to call on government about Eastern Slopes

Dear Editor,

In 1977 the provincial government held public hearings which resulted in the 1977 Eastern Slopes policy.

In 1984 (without public hearings) the government revised that policy which opened the door to more industry and more intrusion of our wildlands throughout the Eastern Slopes.

One area that had been zoned 'prime protection' (Zone 1) in the 1977 policy, has now had a large portion of it reclassified as Zone 4, which permits petroleum and natural gas exploration and development, as well as timber production. The area to which I am referring is in the South Castle region of southwestern Alberta. (This is not the only area to receive the same change, or loss of protection.)

Several years ago, Shell Canada applied for a permit to drill an exploratory gas well in this area, but was turned down. With the new Eastern Slopes policy the Alberta government is ready to give them the green light to go ahead. The Energy Resources Conservation Board have approved the licence even though public hearings showed 85 per cent of the submissions were opposed.

A road will be built and an exploratory gas well with a possible 32.7 per cent concentration of H2S will be drilled. The proposed location is approximately five kilometres from the Waterton Lakes National Parks boundary. The area teems of wildlife including grizzly bear which many experts in the field feel will be come endangered.

It is used by back country hikers, fishermen, hunters, outfitters, trail riders, trappers and other outdoor enthusiasts. All of these users are worried about the effects of the road since it will put more hunting and poaching pressure on big game and fish, cause siltation on important fish-bearing habitat and damage alpine plant life.

Parks Canada people are concerned about Waterton Park. Sour gas odor and the ever-present danger it presents is the case of a blowout are not what tourists are looking for.

Besides these, there are many more reasons why this type of activity should not be allowed in the area. One is that it is being considered for a world heritage park.

Why should we take a chance on losing so much for the sake of a possible gas strike when we already have hundreds of capped wells and other areas on which to drill?

Southwesters Alberta may seem a long way from Drayton Valley and area, but, if we sit back and say nothing, it won't quit before this type of activity spreads throughout the Eastern Slopes and our wildlands will be gone.

Even though speaking out sometimes seems futile, at least we have tried and often government has been forced to listen.

I urge you to write Premier Don Getty and your MLA if you are at all concerned about our Eastern Slopes.

Yours truly,
Donna Haukedal

Smelled the magnolias

Resident has beefs about landfill site

Dear Editor,

I am disappointed by the manner in which the Eaxford Sanitary Landfill site is being operated.

The Town of Drayton Valley had a want ad in The Western Review specifying "students to work for the summer at the various landfill sites from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m."

The job is now filled with three shifts of people from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., with one of these so-called "students" being an adult. If the rules could be waivered to include adults instead of students as advertised, plus the addition of three shifts instead of one, as advertised, why couldn't two 16 year-old boys, who called to apply after the July 9 deadline, be allowed to submit an application?

Since the shift hours, plus age limits had been changed without notification to the public, then why couldn't the application deadline be waivered also? I believe the public should have been notified when the job description changed as then more people could have applied.

My other beef is the landfill site itself. For the sixth time, I have arrived at the Eaxford landfill site to find the cannister gone. I then have to wait for an empty cannister to come back. Is there any way a full cannister can be replaced by an empty one in the same trip?

This is supposed to be a new, improved landfill site. Except for the road being improved, the aroma hasn't changed and at least at the old dump I could literally dump my garbage and leave — unlike this one where I've had to sit and smell the aroma of the magnolias while I wait for an empty cannister.

This letter is the result of my having smelled the magnolias one time too many!

Petition

County controversy

By James Brown

The controversy regarding the proposed new County of Drayton Valley refuses to die down. In fact Drayton Valley area local support has been mobilized behind a petition which organizers hope to send to the Minister of Municipal Affairs soon.

The petition asks for the provincial government to allow a plebiscite on the matter, in which the local people can express their feelings about the new county.

YES chairman Robert Booth, a major organizer of the drive says that supporters are looking to collect the names of at least half of all the property owners in the area.

Booth said most petitions requesting plebiscites require the names of only five to 10 per cent of eligible voters. "We have a unique situation here, we're looking for 50 per cent..."

Booth, who says that regional sentiment has been strong over the past 14 years for a redistribution of tax assessment in the area, called the recent petition "Our fourth kick at the cat."

"The YES chairman said, "They know this will never go away."

Booth cited a number of reasons for the growing dissatisfaction with the 'status quo'.

"Many of the people are at the tail end of several different municipalities. They're at the tail end when it comes to the spending of funds." Booth also argues that a good portion of the revenues taken from four separate jurisdictions in tax assessment are never seen in his area. "Very little is put back in."

He added that representation in the Drayton Valley area is overwhelmed by four other jurisdictions. In a municipal council comprised of nine members, only two are from Drayton Valley.

I.D. 14 Councillor Ken Albrecht says people in the I.D. 14 district have thrown their support behind a petition organized against the acquisition of I.D. 14's territory. The petition, which has about 2,500 signatures, has already been dispatched to Municipal Affairs Minister Neil Crawford.

Friends are thanked

Letters

Dear Editor,

We wish to thank all of the people of Drayton Valley for their neighborliness for the past year.

We have met and made many new and dear friends and with our children, we have felt safe in letting them play in our neighborhood — a situation you are hard-pressed to find in larger centres.

I feel my association with the Drayton Valley Tourist Committee has helped the town as a whole, as Joy and my association with the parent support Toughlove group has also helped us.

Drayton Valley is a vibrant community with some exceptionally dedicated people. There is definitely more good than bad in this town.

I am not sorry to leave the Black Gold, but I am sorry to leave this community.

Lance, Joy Grosco and family

Public spirit questioned

Dear Editor,

It would seem that with regards to the Farmer's Market, the Elks and Royal Purple are not nearly as public-spirited as they represent themselves.

The list of gripes against the market could more easily be the result of parties and dances than caused by hard working farmers selling their produce.

An increase that doubles the current rent is price gouging, in my opinion.

Having the Farmer's Market at the Derrick Mall will prove to be a poor solution unless accommodation is made for those who set their booths up outdoors — bedding plants, fruit, furniture, nursery stock, vegetables and fish trucks — to name a few.

Drayton Valley's Farmer's Market has an excellent reputation in the entire province. This move has been very disruptive for marketers and customers alike. If personal feelings were set aside, an agreeable solution could be worked out by both parties.

Spotlight On Tomahawk

Organizers hope for rain before rodeo

By Lorne Christensen

The organizers of the Tomahawk rodeo are praying for rain.

No, they don't want it to rain on the rodeo, but they wouldn't mind a few showers the day or evening before the event.

It's all part of their philosophy to get more people at the August 9 and 10 rodeo.

"If the weather gets too good we're in trouble," says Dorthy Domke, treasurer from the Tomahawk and District Sports Agra Association. Organizers expect many local farmers would be in the fields instead of at the rodeo if the weather is too nice. And with the rodeo relying on volunteers they need all the help they can get.

But while the weather can't be changed other things can and have been changed for the rodeo.

One word describes the only major change in this year's edition of the event.

Food.

This year's Wild Rose rodeo in Tomahawk will be catered by the local residents. And their job isn't easy. The day before the start of the action they will be spending many hours at Tomahawk Meats making hasiburgers — 2,000 of them to be exact.

Greta Pryor, from the rodeo's food committee, says it's the first time they will be running the food booths during the rodeo.

Another change at the popular event will be the location of the dance. In previous rodeos the dance has been held outdoors or "around the big tent" as one organizer put it. This year, for the first time, the dance will be held in the comforts of the new Agra Centre, adjacent to the rodeo grounds.

Dorthy Domke from the TDSAA also pointed out this year's rodeo is the first one where the rodeo committee and the Agra Association will be working as one group. In the past the rodeo has been organized by a separate committee.

Action in the rodeo, which first started in 1973, will get underway at 1 p.m. on both days and will include all the usual events. Some of the more popular activities will be the bloomer race, mutton bustin' and pig scramble. In addition a silver mine will be open to the children. The mine is actually a pile of sand with coins scattered throughout.

Saturday's events kick-off with a pancake breakfast on main street. The popular event started last year gets underway at 9 a.m. and will go again Sunday with a pancake feast at the same time in the Agra Centre.

Square dancers will also be entertaining during the breakfasts.

The breakfast is $3 for adults and $2 for children age 6 to 12 years old. Admission to the rodeo will be $5 for adults and $3 for children, again from 6 to 12, with tickets for the rodeo dance set at $5. There is limited advance tickets for the Saturday night dance featuring music by Silver Sage.

The Tomahawk Hotel will be also be featuring live entertainment during the rodeo.

Action during last year's bloomer races.

Slow-pitch tourney

A slow-pitch tournament is being planned at the end of August in Tomahawk.

Dates for the tournament are set from August 29 to 31 with the winning team collecting $600.

The three-day affair will feature 16 slow-pitch teams and anyone interested can register their team with Frank Gilbert at 339 3038.

An open dance will also be held on Saturday, August 30 at the Agra Centre.

Tour stopping in

A delegation of 50 people will be dining at the Tomahawk Agra Centre on August 19.

The group will be stopping in Tomahawk during an agriculture tour sponsored by the County of Parkland.

Busy months ahead

There are several events on the calendar in the coming months in Tomahawk.

A harvest supper and dance is planned for November 8.

The dance will feature music by Misty Country and tickets for the event will be by advanced sales only.

The supper will start at 6 p.m. and go until 8 p.m. with the dance to follow.

Another event planned is the Lutheran ladies bazaar and bake sale in conjunction with the community craft sale on November 29.

Curling is also expected to be started by mid-November as area curlers enjoy their second year in the new facility.

Triple K

Kafe opens doors

The Triple K Kafe has opened its doors in Tomahawk.

The cafe, located in the Tomahawk Hotel, has been open since early May after being closed for about two years.

Norm and Nettie Kelly along with their three-year-old son Kam have opened the 18-seat restaurant.

Norman Kelly says they are open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Their complete menu is highlighted by homemade pies and muffins, says Kelly.

So far business has been "fairly good" for the family that moved to Tomahawk from High Level. Kelly says they moved partly because of the weather "but now I'm not sure" he adds, pointing out the weather hasn't been too good lately.

The Innisfail native says they get mostly local people because not very many tourists pass through with the rainy weather.

Track and field star Vowk is frustrated after meet

By Lorne Christensen

Lisa Vowk was very frustrated after returning from a track and field camp in Calgary recently.

But then she had every right to be.

The 13-year-old student at St. Anthony's was forced to sit on the sidelines instead of trying out for the junior national track and field team. Vowk wasn't a member of any accredited track and field club so she wasn't allowed to compete in the tryouts.

But the most frustrating part of the story was still to come. She knew she could beat the times and distances being posted by the winners in Vowk's bantam girls' age group.

"I could've beat the times," she pointed out.

If Vowk had qualified for the junior nationals she would have competed in Ontario in mid-August for a chance to compete in Athens, Greece later in the year.

But the versatile athlete isn't going away discouraged; she vows to be back next year and able to compete.

"I'm not going to miss it next year," she stresses, explaining she'll join the track club which is being organized in the fall.

At the local level she already owns several county records and competes in everything from the 100 metre to 400 metre sprints to long jump and javelin. Her personal best in the 100 metres is 12.8 seconds while she has a personal record of 4.90 metres in the long jump. In the other disciplines Vowk says she is continuing to get better all the time.

The talents which "come naturally" haven't gone unnoticed. Vowk was invited to compete in the Calgary camp and has also ran in the Edmonton Journal's indoor games. University coaches from Edmonton have expressed amazement at the level she is at with her age and lack of training. But Vowk explains her success easily.

"It just comes naturally. I try it and I do it," she points out saying she's picked up some techniques from watching athletes on television.

But while Vowk can compete in almost any track and field event she has begun working on the ones she excells at. "You can't go in them all, so you have to pick some," she adds.

With her natural talent Vowk is looking towards a future in athletics and hopes to land a scholarship in the next few years. The Olympics are also a long-term goal for Vowk.

"I've thought about it (the Olympics) and I'd like to try but it will take a lot of hard work," she says. The hard work includes daily training, something Vowk says she tries to do.

"Almost every day I try to do something either at home or at school," she says.

Her training has also included track and field camps like the one at the University of Calgary she recently returned from.

"I like going to camps, we do a lot of crazy things," she says.

The sports-minded Grade 9 student who lives near Easyford is also involved in other sports including volleyball, badminton, hiking, cycling and "everything else."

Vowk is hoping to go far in track and field but still plans to have fun doing it.

"I'll go as far as I can go I guess," she says.

Lisa Vowk stands tall in her track shoes, the inset photo showing her with some of her trophies.

Oldtimers

Tigers capture second Western Canadian ball title

For the second year in a row, the Drayton Valley Tigers have won the Western Canada oldtimers baseball tournament.

After losing their opening game 8-2 to Winnipeg, the Tigers won four straight in capturing the title at a 16-team tournament recently at Kindersley, Saskatchewan.

Manager/sponsor Adrian Meier says not many people gave his club a chance of repeating. But, they proved the experts wrong.

After their loss to Winnipeg, the Tigers rebounded with four-inning 11-1 wins over Dinsmore and 10-0 over Medstead. Inbetween those two victories, Medstead upset Winnipeg 3-2, giving the Drayton Valley side the division title and sending them into the playoff round.

In their semi-final game against a tough Brooks team, the Tigers found themselves trailing 2-0 after the second. But Roger Pusze, an addition from Medicine Hat got them on the score sheet with a home run. "We squeezed in a couple of runs and that was the ball game," Meier explained.

The final game was a different story. "We got the jump and led 6-0 after two innings," Meier described the Tigers' eventual 6-1 win over Riverhurst. Cliff Campbell of Castor and Gary Kreye, a member of the Oilfield Baseball League Easyford Colts, shared the pitching chores.

Meier called the victory a good team effort. He did single out fielder Ken Fink for a great shoe string catch against Brooks. Fink made a similar catch in last year's final. Beth Pusze, who finished the tournament with three home runs, and Campbell, played with the Tigers last year when they won the Western Canada tournament and the provincials.

In their opening game loss to Winnipeg, Meier said, "We had the bases loaded time after time but we couldn't score."

Battle for first goes to the wire

The battle for first place in the Oilfield Baseball League is going right down to the wire.

The Eaxyford Colts held down top spot Monday night after the DV Oilers and Thorsby Aces split a scheduled double-header at West Valley Park. The split left the Oilers in second place, just a half game back of the Colts.

However, as Oiler win last night (Tuesday) against the D&B Drillers would have moved the Oilers into first place. But the Colts can take the league pennant with wins tonight (Wednesday) against Breton or Thursday against Thorsby.

This weekend, the top four teams will participate in the league playoff tournament at West Valley Park.

The 8-7 win by Thorsby on Monday may be enough to send them into the playoffs. Winning pitcher Steve Hodges belped his own cause in that game with a two run homer. Ken Baird and Gerald Dusterhoft hit back-to-back home runs for the Oilers in the first inning as they jumped into a 4-0 lead. The Aces narrowed the Oilers' lead to 6-2 after the fourth and 6-4 after the fifth, and put the game away with a four-run sixth. The Oilers got their final run in the seventh, when the contest was called because of darkness.

In the first half of the double header Brad Allen, Harv Allen and Reno Martin had two hits each in a lopsided 11-2 decision. Alden Baird and Harv Allen split the mound chores.

In another weekend game, the Oilers handed the Breton Royals an 18-7 setback. In league games last week, Breton earned a split as they lost 15-7 to Eaxyford and then beat the Drillers 13-10. In another contest, the Oilers edged the Colts 8-7.

Flood remains

When the raging waters of the flooding Pembina River flowed over its banks a few weeks ago, it wreaked havoc at the Eaxyford Colts' ball diamond. Rampaging water tore up fences and one of the dugouts. River silt now covers the playing field and dried up weeds hang from the bleachers and backstops (shown here). League officials say the team is hoping to finish up their season using Drayton Valley diamonds.

Ceasars continue winning streak with latest victory

By Larae Christensen

Three more wins and they re perfect

The Drayton Valley Ceasars just need to win three last three games to post the first no-loss season of any club in the Central Alberta Rural Town Soccer League (CARTSL).

On the weekend they extended their record to 11 wins and no losses with a 4-1 trouncing of the Parkland Pit Bulls in Spruce Grove.

The Parkland squad started with only nine players but were first to hit the scoreboard five minutes into the game. The goal came off a penalty kick after Ceasar defender Geir Horstad grabbed the ball to prevent a goal.

"It was a good thing to do," said Simon Kelly, the regular goalie who is sidelined with a hand injury.

Then 15 minutes later Andy Kelly started things off for the Ceasars with their first goal. Mark Burkland put the local club up 2-1 with a goal near the end of the first half.

In the second half Parkland came out with one more player and continued to apply the pressure. But Ceasar goaler Peter Reynolds "played well" in keeping the Pit Bulls to one goal.

Rod Beeler chalked up the club's third goal about 15 minutes into the second half and Chris Kelly rounded out the scoring with about 10 minutes left.

"Peter (Reynolds) made some key saves - it could have been 4-3 easy," Kelly added.

The goal by Chris Kelly added to his league leading total making it 16 with fellow Ceasar Mark Burkland now securely in possession of second place in the league scoring with 11 goals. The goal by Burkland also tied a league record for scoring in the most consecutive games at eight. Julian Annichiarico of Whitecourt held the eight game mark.

The win puts the Ceasars within easy grasp of clinching first place with their next game and also puts their season record at 13-0. Their two exhibition wins both came against Rimbey with the latest last week in a 2-1 win. Rod Beeler and Mark Burkland scored the Ceasar markers in the game.

In the 13 games the Ceasars have scored 57 times and have just seven goals against. In league play they have counted for 51 goals for and just four against. The league record is 81 goals for and nine against.

In other soccer notes four players were ejected from the CARTSL's game between Spruce Grove and Mayerthorpe. Two players were thrown out from each side after a fight erupted on the field during the weekend game.

Tired Tigers take silver

A tired Drayton Valley Tigers team had to settle for the second place silver medal at the oldtimers baseball provincials in Sherwood Park on the long weekend.

The defending Alberta champs, just coming off winning the Western Canada tournament at Kindersley was four of five games on the weekend.

They opened last Friday with an 8-7 win over Edmonton Mohawk despite being down 4-0 and hammered Alexis 14-0 On Saturday the Tigers made it three straight with a 6-1 decision over Highway 12. Then Telfield with two out in the fifth, scored six runs as they upset the Drayton Valley side 6-2. "Everything went right for them," Tigers manager-coach Adrian Meier explained.

The Tigers staged a dramatic rally in the silver-bronze medal game on Sunday as they scored four runs in the last of the sixth for an 8-7 win over Slave Lake. They were down 7-2 after four but got back in contention with two runs in the fifth.

Despite their second place finish, Meier was extremely pleased with the Tigers performance. In the past two years, they played 20 games at the provincial and Western Canada level, winning 18 of those.

"Positive"

Curling club meets with town officials

A meeting between town officials and members of the curling club was labelled as "positive" by club president Alex Salfi.

Salfi and six others from the curling club met behind closed doors last Wednesday with Mayor Bob Mayhew, councillors Charlie Miner and Emile Lambert and town manager Manny Deol.

"Things were resolved somewhat," said Salfi about the hour-and-a-half meeting.

"Both sides learned something from it," Salfi said. "It helped us in our direction in where we're going," he added.

Salfi said the meeting was "very positive" and the town "left the door open" for future discussions.

The possibility of the curling club being included in a proposed new complex was also discussed, according to Salfi. He pointed out the complex was "down the road" but the town said if the complex was built before the club builds a new facility they will design the structure so the curling facility could be added later.

Drillers holding tourney

The D&S Drillers will hold an eight-team two-day baseball tournament Aug 23-24 at West Valley Park.

Five teams from the Oilfield Baseball League plus Warberg, Edson and Peers will chase $650 in prize money. A concession booth will be open on the grounds both days.

Meanwhile, the Drillers are busy wrapping up regular season play. Tomorrow (Wednesday) night they play at Breton.

Recent rains have resulted in the loss of the baseball diamond at Easyford. It was under several feet of water when the Pembina River flooded its banks.

Diamond Life

Billeters needed

Ten days and counting.

That's how long before the best five bantam baseball teams in Western Canada take to the field in Drayton Valley to decide the championship.

But there's a problem.

Billeters for the players are still needed, badly.

Andex Oiler manager George Bergquist says they have about 64 of the players secured into billeters' homes but about 50 more placements are still needed

"We'll have to put them up in a hotel and pay the bill," Bergquist said about the problem if billeters are not found

Bergquist said billeters can take "one or two or any amount" of boys and they only have to provide a breakfast on Friday morning as other meals have been arranged

The players will arrive Thursday, August 14, in town for the Western Canadian championships.

Anyone interested in billeting players is urged to contact George Bergquist at 542-4436 or Julie at 542-4100 or Mickey McDowell at 542-6894 thanks.

The host Andex Oilers are the defending silver medalists at the Western Canadians

Tuftin' and Hines

Close to the trucks

Local saddle bronc rider Clayton Hines and barrel racer Iris Tuftin came close to driving new Dodge trucks as part of a rodeo tour promotion.

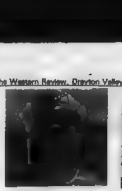
The Copenhagen/Dodge pro rodeo tour winner is awarded a new Dodge truck for having the most points in their event.

Hines, the defending Canadian champ, had 121 points to finish fourth in the standings with Chris Andersen of Rocky Mountain House driving away in the new truck.

Tuftin also finished fourth in the barrel racing standings with 127.5 points. Marci Laye of Metiskow Alberta won the new truck in the barrel racing

Other winners included Wayne Herman of Rapid City, South Dakota for the bareback, Larry Robinson of Innisfail for calf roping, Medicine Hat's Brian Asbly in the bull riding and Kevin Nordahl of Helena, Montana in the steer wrestling

Meet the Andex Oilers...



Trever Fedorus

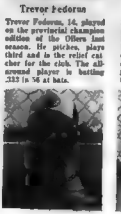
Trever Fedorus, 14, played on the provincial champion edition of the Oilers last season. He pitches, plays third and is the relief catcher for the club. The all-around player is batting .333 in 56 at bats.

Joey Hutzal

Hutzal, 14, is a second-year player. When he isn't behind the plate catching he'll be on third base. The coaches say his arm is really coming along in picking guys off at second. He is batting .400 in 54 trips at bats.

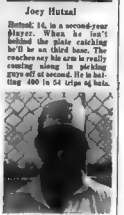
Ed Hutzal

Andex Oiler coach Ed Hutzal has been involved with baseball for 29 years. He was with the team when they was the provincials last year and travelled to the Western Canadians. Hutzal says he really enjoys working with the "great bunch of boys" on the team. His wife Iona and his three girls also play a part keeping the statistics and score.



George Bergquist

Manager George Bergquist is also vice-president of minor baseball in Drayton Valley. Bergquist has lived here for 13 years and coached baseball for the last five years from the mosquito level to beavers and up to his present position with the bantams. He has been involved in a lot of community work in his time in Drayton Valley and area.



Vern Bartlett

Assistant coach Vern Bartlett is also the third base coach for the Andex Oiler team. Bartlett has spent almost 40 years in Drayton Valley. He says he is a rookie to coaching in 'A' ball but points out working with Ed (Hutzal) and George (Bergquist) is a learning experience. His wife Gail also helps out the team with score keeping duties.

Lizards and Killers rally in last innings for win

Two dramatic rallies in the last inning highlighted the finals at the three-day slow pitch tournament held in in Drayton Valley on the weekend

The Wizard Lizards out of Edmonton scored eight runs in the last of the seventh to nip the Stowaways from Edson 14 13 in the 'A' final

The Katsus Kountry Killers from Tilley scored four runs in the bottom of the seventh, for a thrilling 15-14 win over Moon Lake in the 'B' final.

And 50/50, a Drayton Valley squad, won the 'C' division as they defeated Hay's Kids.

In the 'A' final the Stowaways led 2 0 before the Edmonton crew scored five in the bottom of the second for the lead. But Edson appeared to take command in the fourth when they scored seven times and added four more in the top of the seventh for a 13-6 lead But Edmonton wouldn't quit in their final time at bat, as they scored eight runs to win the title

In the 'A' division round robin, the Wizard Lizards went undefeated in three games, then defeated Hay's Kids in semi final action when the Stowaways got a bye into the final

Moon Lake took a big step toward capturing the 'B' title when they broke an 8-8 tie with six runs in the fifth But Tilley, located near Brooks in southern Alberta, fought back with three runs in the sixth and then capped off the weekend with a four run rally in the seventh Moon Lake received the bye into the final while the Kounty Killers defeated Scandia in semi final play

In the 'C' final, 50/50 got the bye, and then defeated Hay's 12-5, who had defeated the Smurfs in semi-final action

Mickey McDowell, president of minor baseball, stands in side the new announcer's booth and concession at West Valley Park. La Chances chosen for award

By Bill Ingles

The Francis and Joyce La Chance family of Lindale were recently chosen one of 22 recipients of the 1986 Nor thlands Farm Family awards.

"Our county councillor, Bruce Cropley, threw our names into the rug and we were chosen from among about 20 people," said La Chance.

The La Chance family runs a mixed grain-beef, cereal operation with Charolais-cross cattle.

"We grow and feed them then send them off to a custom finishing feedlot in Airdrie," says La Chance.

La Chance served on the Alberta Cattle Commission for six years and has also been a member of the Buck Mountain Co-op since its inception. In addition, wife Joyce worked with 4 H and both served with the Lindale school association while their children were growing up.

Francis and Joyce have three children and two grandchildren.

La Chance also served on the board of directors of the Jarvipine Community Pasture.

"The cattle commission was quite interesting. At the conventions we got to meet people from other parts of the province It's interesting to see how other people work with marketing and things," said La Chance.

A new wrinkle for the La Chances is a program of fall calving

"It gets the steers to market out of whack with the time the majority of animals are hitting the market. It's all part of marketing strategy," says La Chance.

The La Chance family works a farm just a quarter-mile east of Lindale in dark gray-wooded soil.

"The cost per acre is heavier but we can still grow respectable crops with crop rotation We don t grow alfalfa but we're starting some fall rye this year," said La Chance

Jury still out on new bylaw

Wondering what happened to Parkland County's new land use bylaw?

The jury is still out on the rewrite of the new county land use law that could see, among other things, the county either prohibit or allow, on a discretionary basis, second dwellings or mobile homes on country residential lots.

After conducting public hearings in the spring into the new draft bylaw proposal county council has now sifted through the submissions and critiques and must now decide what goes in, what stays in and what is changed. After that it goes back to county administration for a final draft

"We spent a day review ing them," Reeve Maurice McCullagh said recently.

"Mostly what we got from the people...some of it was kind of redundant."

One of the most controversial issues is whether provision should be made for related families to share the same lot. County council appears to favor making some allowance for that in the bylaw.

"We can't allow duplexes," McCullagh said. "but we'd like to encourage old folks to live with their children."

Pavement requested

A request to pave 56 Street, south of 50 Avenue, has been turned down by town council.

A request to pave 58 Street, which is also the entrance into West Valley Park, came from Drayton's Pride Car Wash. Valley Concrete and Drayton Tire. It had been recommended that the three businesses would pick up 50 per cent of the cost and the town would pay 50 per cent.

However, Councillor Charlie Miner suggested waiting until next year, as the expense was not in the budget and money would have to come out of reserves. Miner also i that if the town waited until next year, they may extend the paving into West Valley Park.

The motion to proceeded drew a 2-2 tie, which led to its defeat.

CROP PRODUCERS:
Fertilizer Price Protection Extended to July 31, 1987

■ The Alberta Farm Fertilizer Price Protection Plan was established in 1985 to reduce crop producers' input costs. The Government of Alberta has now extended this program.

Assistance is available for fertilizer purchased and used between August 1/1984 and July 31 1987. Farmers have until January 31, 1988 to apply for assistance.

■ Payments are made directly to farmers on the basis of $50 per tonne of actual nitrogen and $25 per tonne of actual phosphate. Fertilizer must have been paid for by the time of application.

■ The program has received applications totalling $28.5 million to date from more than 31,000 farmers. The average payment per farm is about $950.

■ Announcing the continuation of the fertilizer price protection plan now, at the beginning of the 1986-87 crop year gives Alberta farmers the advance assurance that their costs will be lowered for an important component of next spring's crop inputs.

Club at Expo

The Drayton Valley Beef 4-H Club recently went on their annual tour. This year they decided to go to Expo 86.

The group took in three days at the world's fair. They stayed in a hotel about eight blocks from Expo.

The club raised money for the trip selling raffle tickets for half a beef. They report a great time.

Expo was well worth it, even for the youngest member of the group, Amy, 5, who enjoyed the street entertainment.

FUEL FOR THOUGHT

From the time humans first learned to walk, we have constantly been looking for new and better means of mobility – and new sources of energy to make our mobility even more efficient.

For example, at Expo 86 in Vancouver this year, you can see Canada's first magnetically powered rapid transit system. You can also find out more about alternative fuels for your car, such as propane, natural gas, and even alcohol. And an entire fleet of electrically powered vehicles will visit Expo 86.

Find out what's next.

Keep informed and up to date on current technology and the future of transportation energy.

Ethanol in the forefront of alternate fuel

Drinking and driving do not mix However, there is a role for alcohol in the car, not the driver

Western Canada is already using alcohol as a blend with gasoline, sold by Mohawk gasoline stations In Manitoba generally the blend consists of 10 per cent ethanol, the best known alcohol, and 90 per cent gasoline In Saskatchewan, Alberta and some parts of Manitoba, EM Unleaded fuel will contain three per cent ethanol, five per cent methanol and 92 per cent gasoline

In the future, as petroleum based fuels become more scarce and expensive, Canada must find ways to use energy more efficiently Ethanol is in the forefront of the hunt for alternative fuels

Evidence suggest that all civilizations throughout recorded time have fermented fruits, vegetables and grains to produce liquor, chemically known as ethanol, for human consumption By 1830 Europeans also began using it in lamps to replace malodorous fish and whale oils and Henry Ford original ly designed the Model T to run on ethanol Ironically he later had to adapt Ford engines to run on petroleum derived gasoline as it became more plentiful

In the early part of this century, many countries encouraged the use of ethanol for fuel Brazil, for example, has been using alcohol blended fuels for almost 60 years France developed a mixture of gasoline and ethanol, which today is still called gasohol. Gasohol had a resurgence in popularity in the United States during the Depression, and Prohibition led many distillery owners to look for new markets, since the local taverns and bootlegs could no longer use their products. By the end of World War II, however, petroleum based fuels were cheap and plentiful Gasohol use declined until the Middle East oil embargo in 1973 Today researchers continue to look for viable petroleum alternatives

Ethanol is one of a series of organic compounds called alcohols Organic compounds contain oxygen, carbon and hydrogen Petroleum, one of the hydrocarbon compounds essentially contains only carbon andhydrogen

Ethanol can be produced in two ways by fermentation of sugars and by hydration of ethylene, which can be made from components in natural gas Brazil, where ethanol blended fuels for almost 60 years France developed a mixture of gasoline and ethanol, which today is still called gasohol. when alcohols are used alone or pure Instead, some engine components must be adjusted or replaced. Neat alcohols are high octane fuels and permit engines of higher compress ion ratios, and they develop more power outputs, to be used The muscle cars of the '50s us ed very high octane fuel.

Octane requirements in today's gasoline are partly met by using lead compounds Alcohol can be used to reduce the lead requirements and thus reduce lead emissions, but alcohols (particularly methanol) are more corrosive than gasoline and can cause swelling in elastomeric parts, etc). This problem can be resolved by the use of alcohol compatible materials

Alcohols also have an ecological advantage over gasoline They are not carcinogenic In the event of a large spill, alcohols are biodegradable and will have a lesser impact than gasoline on the environment. For the most part, exhaust emissions are considerably lower than those of gasoline Therefore, air quality should improve with alcohol use.

Some countries are already including alcohol blends, routinely at refueling stations In Brazil all gasoline is 20 per cent ethanol and two million cars run on neat ethanol. About five per cent of the fuel sales in the United States are blends of ethanol gasoline Germany, Austria, France and Italy routinely add up to three per cent methanol in their gasoline. Fuel marketed as high-octane in South Africa is in fact 10 per cent alcohol — 90 per cent gasoline blend.

When the price of fuel at Canadian gas stations rises, the interest in alternative fules becomes greater. A breakthrough in technology to convert cellulose to sugar could allow economical production of ethanol from Canada's vast forest resources As production costs are reduced, alcohol fuels will become an important part of our energy future

EMR joins provinces in funding of projects

Energy, Mines and Resources Canada (EMR) has joined the provinces and the private sector to fund research and development projects concerning natural gas and propane technology

Discussions are in the final stages to create a three year $8.7 million R&D program under the direction of the Canadian Gas Association (CGA). Funding will come from the federal government (approximately $1.7 million), the provinces of Saskatchewan and Ontario (approximately $1.4 million), and member companies of the CGA (82.8 million). Additional contributions from CGA members are expected under this three year program.

CGA will manage contracts for approximately 40 R&D projects on natural gas as a transportation fuel. It has already created a natural gas vehicle development committee to which the program R&D administrator will report, thus ensuring that the R&D projects are market oriented

Work will commence in six broad categories:

- fundamental research
- development of engines (both compression and spark ignition)
- fueling systems
- product evaluation
- safety and regulatory issues
- technology transfer

EMR has also agreed to contribute $650,000 to a research and development program on propane for automotive fuel The Ontario government will contribute $350,000 to this initiative, and Chrysler Canada Ltd., market since 1961

Chrysler's propane vehicles are built in the company's factories and are backed by the same extensive warranties as equivalent gasoline fueled vehicles. All of Chrysler's propane-related research and development activities are conducted in Canada

Work under this program will concentrate on five areas:

- high-compression radio
- engine valve durability im provements
- advanced electronic propane fuel systems
- evaluation of propane butane fuel blends

The results of these pro jects to date are positive with regard to the number of factory produced propane vehicles in Canada Publication of these results should encourage growth in the pour chase of factory-produced propane vehicles

EMR's involvement in these R&D projects reflects the department's commitment to reduce Canada's dependence on petroleum by encouraging the use of alternative energy sources. In 1979 both propane and natural gas were identified as short- to medium term alternative fuels for Canadian motor vehicles

There are now more than 120,000 propane vehicles on Canadian highways and more than 8,000 natural gas vehicles. Natural gas conversions are expected to increase quickly as more refueling stations open

These R&D programs will address many natural gas and propane issues Together, they will encourage Many Canadians to switch to alternative fuels that are safe, plentiful, practical, environmentally benign and produced within our own borders

Technology is modern-day pre-occupation

One word encompasses western civilization's modern-day preoccupation - technology High tech in vokes images of electronic wizardry such as computers, satellites, robots and space stations

One invention, however, has been around for so long we just take it for granted In technical jargon it is referred to as an energy storage device But most of us call it a battery

The lowly battery is but a no-hum, everyday gadget It receives a few undeserved epithets on a cold morning when a motorist who has given the car battery little more than benign neglect for years turns the key in the ig nition only to receive a weak, unproductive groan in return. What can be new about battery? Well, plenty

Canada is on the leading edge of a new technology that has a potential world market of $6.5 billion a year The enterprising nation that final ly perfects the technology will cash in on export markets and repeat business, and expand the economic base All of this potential rests with the humble battery.

Energy, Mines and Resources Canada recently contracted with Electrofuel Manufacturing Company in Toronto to develop the geolyte fer a lithium-aluminum iron sulphate battery. The battery will have the potential for more energy per unit of volume and weight than any battery in existence

The lithium based bat tery is fine in theory, but tricky to use Lithium is very unstable in both air and water. For this reason, a lithium aluminum alloy has been developed for one side of the battery cell, solid iron sulphide particles are used on the other The electro chemical energy of lithium to sulphur, which has great potential energy. Without the aluminum and iron com pounds, which prevent the lithium from reacting with the battery casing, the bat tery would be very difficult to develop

The cost of producing this battery had proven prohibitive, primarily because of the need for an inert separator material between the cells. Researchers throughout the world have been using boron nitride, and although successful, it has not been commercially viable because of production costs

According to Nick Barr, a chemist with EMR, Canada had a major breakthrough when an inexpensive method was developed to produce high-quality, low-cost boron nitride fibres and felt from borate oxide and ammonia

Key players in the development of this process were the Ontario Research Foundation and the Electrofuel Manufacturing Company

The prototype battery will be three to four times larger than the usual car bat tery but will store about 15 times more energy Lithium batteries operate at temperatures of 450°C, compared with the familiar lead acid batteries, which work at the temperature of the air surrounding them. This makes insulation of the lithium battery necessary, however, it generates its own heat once working. The electrolyte in the cells is a mixture of potassium chloride and lithium chloride

The lithium aluminum iron sulphide bat tery has the potential to power cars and space sta tions It can store excess energy produced by hydrostations, power sub marines and provide standby power for computers. Once the testing and production strategies have been worked out, Beck says that the bat teries could be ready for com mercial production in about four years

Report on Farm Credit Fund Act

By Doug Walkey

In the last few weeks information has been released by the provincial treasurer on the new Farm Credit Stability Fund Act

The Alberta government intends this program to provide farmers with long-term fixed rate financing The goal of the program is to shelter farmers from fluctuating interest rates and make planning for the future a more reliable proposition.

The purposes that the loan can be used for are straightforward. In particular, you can refinance or consolidate farm related debt. It can be used to acquire, construct or improve land, buildings and farm equipment. It can be used to acquire breeding livestock. Specifically, the loan cannot be used for the acquisition, construction or improvement of residences or for the acquisition of cars and light trucks.

To qualify you must demonstrate ability to repay the loan and interest charges at nine per cent per year. The loan is government guaranteed and will be handled through commercial lenders, like the banks and credit unions

There are several limits involved with the loan. Maximum amount is $200,000 per farm family. Partnerships or corporations may qualify for up to $800,000 based on the number of actively farming families. These limits include loans owing to AADC. You may not qualify for the full maximum loan if you can't show repayment, or you already have an existing AADC loan.

Repayment is flexible You have the choice of amortized payments (payments are equal over the entire loan) or a straight principal-plus-interest payment. Be sure to check on which payment schedule best fits your financial situation, they don't add up to the same grand total Prepayment is allowed

Term of the loan can be from 10 to 20 years, again depending on circumstances

There you have it For more information you can contact our office or your favorite lender.

By the way, keep in mind the Gear-Up-Financially program that's going on in the district. That's the program that will provide you three of charge) with a consultant to help you analyse your farm's financial position. It's a good program, and the price is right! We will also be offering an in-depth financial management course this fall. Registration is limited, so sign up now

School reunion

Plans for a 10-year reunion for the class of '76 from Frank Maddock high school are nearing completion

Collette Soloman chairman of the reunion committee said they are expecting most of the 150 grads from that year.

"Great!" said Soloman when asked how the plans are coming. "Out of 150 grads, 130 have said that they will definitely be attending."

The reunion is being planned for Aug 29 at FMHS including a supper and dance to end with the festivities

While most of the grads are still residing in Alberta Soloman says that a few will be attending from as far away as Ottawa

"They're coming from all over Alberta," she said "One is even coming from Ottawa to attend. And a few of those who can't make it are working overseas.

But for those who can make it to the event, Soloman says they can expect a good band, good food and a good time

It should be just great It'll be nice to see everyone again," she added.

Detours and delays

Traffic using the North Saskatchewan River hill have had their share of detours this summer. For the past two weeks, traffic was restricted to one way, when heavy rains washed out part of the road (top photo). On the bridge (top photo), crews continue to make improvements. The heavy rain also caused problems for the bridge crew, as their ramp was flooded and their trailer had to be moved to higher ground.

Information on disaster relief

The cleanup and repair from the recent rains and floods is well underway.

Registration of loss/damage was held at the County Building in Drayton Valley and at the Evansburg Village office July 31 and Aug. 1. Anyone with insurable damages who did not register on these two dates should contact the municipality or Alberta Public Safety Services in Edmonton (427 2772 or 451 7106 and ask for Disaster Assistance branch). Registrations for all rural areas will be accepted until Sept. 15.

It's incredible the different approaches that people take in such situations. One person will phone demanding that the government take all responsibility and the next one will be appreciative of any assistance that can be given. It's a pleasure to be able to help these people.

I have mixed feelings about government responsibility. I'm sure some residents of Drayton Valley were equally as hard hit in the June 29, 1984 hail storm. I felt Disaster Services should have triggered then, but it didn't. Many people were left at risk because of an insurance clause exemption and many farmers lost their entire hay crop. The decisions are always difficult.

This isn't exactly haying weather, either. I don't ever remember an Aug. 1 when we haven't had some hay baled.

Both the Farm Credit Stability Bill and the Small Business Term Assistance

Bill have received second reading and have passed the committee stage. The principals are essentially the same, long-term credit stability at a fixed rate of interest, repayable without penalty at any time. It is hoped that many of the demand, floating interest loans will be rolled over so that businessmen and farmers can make decisions based on knowing the cost of finance. New loans will also be accepted.

The loan process is through the normal lending institutions. The farm credit loans should be available almost immediately and the small business loans will follow in two weeks.

Some people have concerns that normal interest rates may fall below the program's nine per cent. I think that would be the best news we could have. High interest rates are a deterrent to economic recovery.

The low agriculture commodity prices, coupled with low oil prices, have drastically affected two of our major industries. It will take a cooperative, concerted effort to work through this difficult situation.

Strife ridden country

Hobbs discovers harsh reality of war in Nicaragua

Rick Hobbs didn't know where Nicaragua was three months ago but now the Warburg area resident not only knows about the Central America country's problems but even met its president Daniel Ortega.

Didn't know who the good guys were and who the bad guys were. Didn't know where it was and the local library didn't have any Spanish books, said Rick.

Rick and wife Fran became involved with the trip after caring for a herd of 40 goats destined for Nicaragua as part of an effort by the Farmers for Peace group.

Best and worst luck

I had some of the best luck and some of the worst luck on the trip," says Rich.

Before leaving for Toronto the herd of goats became lost on a vast conveyor belt system at Toronto's Pearson airport and the pilot lost his flight plan.

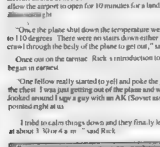
At Managua airport the aircraft was first refused per mission to land because of a street 9 p m curfew. The aircraft circled until a decision was reached on the ground to allow the airport to open for 10 minutes for a landing just [illegible] at night.

"Once the plane shut down the temperature went from 72 to 110 degrees. There were no stairs down either. We had to crawl through the belly of the plane to get out," said Rick.

Once out on the tarmac Rick's introduction to Nicaragua began in earnest.

"One fellow really started to yell and poke the guard in the chest. I was just getting out of the plane and when I looked around I saw a guy with an AK (Soviet assault rifle) pointed right at us.

I tried to calm things down and they finally let us unload at about 3:30 or 4 a m ," said Rick.



Nation ravaged by war

Nicaragua is a small nation in Central America with a population of 22 million. It was ruled from 1936 to 1979 by the Somoza family.

The rebellion was about 90 per cent Roman Catholic at the last census, performed in 1971. According to statistics, 50 per cent of the population had an average annual income of $90.

The same statistics showed that 80 per cent of the population had no running water while 59 per cent had no electricity. Forty-seven per cent were without sanitary facilities and 69 per cent of the people lived on dirt floors.

The same study showed that five per cent of the population owned 58 per cent of the arable land with the Somoza family holding 23 per cent.

In 1933, Anastasio Somoza Garcia was elected president and ruled until 1956 when he was assassinated. His second son, Anastasio, took control in a rigged election in [illegible].

Somoza resigned July 17, 1979 and fled to Miami. A study by the United Nations Committee on Latin American shows that 40,000 people were killed in the country's civil war between January 1978 and July 1979; 40,000 children were orphaned; 200,000 families were left homeless; 750,000 people were left dependent on food assistance and 33 per cent of all industrial property destroyed.

Elements of the deposed Somoza regime are resisting the new Sandinista government and these Contras are causing damage on the borders of the country.

The Reagan administration recently agreed to increase funds to the Contras.

After the struggle to unload the goats, the animals were finally left on the airport tarmac with 20 goats cramped in small transport crates until a government official arrived and the animals were taken to a different section of the airport.

Everyone came to visit at the airport: guards, floor sweepers, guys from the tower. They were all interested in the goats," he said.

First night in Nicaragua

The next step in the journey was a truck trip to Estelli in Northern Nicaragua.

It started raining 20 minutes out of Managua and after hours in the rain and heat we stank, even the goat herder wouldn't come near us," said Rick.

Rick was housed at the agricultural college at Estelli which includes facilities for hogs, rabbits, cattle, chickens and bees, along with a goat operation.

On our first night in Estelli we heard mortar fire and there were rifle shots all night. At one point the power went out after the university administrator had turned it on and we started to get worried. There was lots of fear all the time.

I can't figure out how people in the country can sleep at night," he said.

The next step in the trip took Rick to a Farmers for Peace homes in Jinotega but despite the move, his group could still hear gunfire every night.

Plans originally called for the group to be sent to relatively quiet southern Nicaragua but plans changed and Hobbs' group was sent into northern Nicaragua where fighting has been particularly fierce.

While Fran worried about her husband during the trip and his phone calls sometimes confirmed her fears.

I really did worry about him because he phoned and talked about rifles and stuff. He was supposed to go to the south where there was no fighting. It's the fighting you have to worry about," she said.

Nicaraguan poverty

The lifestyle of the Nicaraguan people was another feature that Rick took note of during his stay in the country.

"There was poverty like I've never seen before. We ended up eating with our fingers at the university because there were no extra knives, forks or spoons.

"There were kids begging for food at the restaurants in the central market of Managua. There were cardboard shacks and anything else that would work as a shelter was used," said Rick.

Many things which are common in North America are non-existent in Nicaragua, said Hobbs.

Letters take a long time to get through. The post office has no stamps and mail took six months to get through," said Rick.

Electric power is also unstable and many places in Managua, the country's capital, don't have electricity, said Hobbs.

In the midst of difficult conditions, Hobbs praised the hospitality of the Nicaraguans and said his treatment while in the country was extremely good.

Despite poverty, patriotism is exceptionally strong, says Hobbs.

"One woman I met has 4 sons in the army and he has a 12-year-old body guard. In the streets you hear kids shouting 'Viva Sandino'.

One fellow we met was born in Nicaragua but his parents moved to the United States when he was three years old - he's back and in the army. He plans to stay for three years then move back to the States," said Rick.

Meeting the president

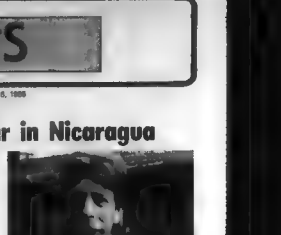
During his stay in Nicaragua, Rick met president Daniel Ortega who thanked him for his efforts for the Nicaraguan people.

He seems like a straight shooter. He definitely about something and make sure it got done.

He also gave us the chance to talk to people about their problems. If that's communism then we need more of it. When was the last time you saw Brian Mulroney?" he said.

The herd which Rick took to Nicaragua will be used to upgrade goats in the Central American country. Presently, the Nicaraguans have Creoles which Rick describes as good for meat but with limited milk production.

Despite an effort by the United States to portray Nicaragua as a Soviet camp, Rick said he saw very few Eastern European or Soviet [illegible]



Rick Hobbs with two kids that didn't go on the trip.

There were people from Spain, France, Britain, Germany, Italy and Canada. There were also a lot of Americans," he said.

Safety of members of the international community is a major concern for the Nicaraguans, said Rick.

They said if there was ever an invasion they'd put the internationals in the safest place possible but if they wanted to fight there would be arms for them," he said.

Rick also added that there were attempts by Contra members to assassinate foreigners in an effort to discourage outside help.

Country at war

War was very real during Rick's stay, not only with rifle fire in the distance but also with reports of damage done by Contra attacks.

About 60 kilometres from Jinotega, the Contras blew up a bus and killed 12 women and 12 kids. The Contras seem to kill many women and kids. They're really afraid of a head-on meeting with the Sandinistas," said Rick.

Although the army is fighting a struggle against armed guerrillas, Rick found soldiers helpful and not militaristic.

Our truck overheated and we had only a gallon of water. Guards at a post down the road took our jug and filled it then brought it back to us. I also hitched a ride on an army truck one time," he said.

Shortages plague Nicaragua said Rick with children going to school half days because of a shortage of teachers. There are also shortages of pencils, pens and notebooks.

Other shortages also hamper economic development.

With a lot of the stuff that North Americans throw away, Nicaraguans could live like kings. Here we're even planning that we don't make $15 an hour and they can't even exist," said Rick.

Despite poverty and war, the new regime has improved conditions in a number of ways.

I went to visit an 80-year-old medicine man who has been practising since he was 15. He doesn't see that many people now because there are doctors in almost every community," said Rick.

Comforts of home

Once home, Rick took advantage of a number of comforts he hadn't enjoyed since leaving Canada.

The first thing I did when I got home was to have a piece of hot buttered toast and a glass of milk. Then I had a hot shower," he said.

Butter and milk are considered luxury items in Nicaragua while hot water is non-existent.

Rick estimates he lost about 30 pounds during the trip but says he would go back.

I want to go back to Estelli and see 'my girls' (his herd of some 42 goats of various breeds)."

Fishing derby leaders

The Breton and District Fish and Game Association have announced the leaders in their fishing derby.

The largest pike to date weighs 26 pounds, four ounces with the biggest mountain white fish topping the scales at three pounds, two ounces. A two pound 12 ounce pigeon white fish tops the list in that category with the biggest walleye weighing four pounds 15½ ounces. The rainbow trout to beat weighed in at four pounds 13 ounces.

Anyone wishing to have their fish weighed in, may do so at Jim Saunders' home in Breton.

Those wanting Breton and District Fish and Game memberships can obtain them from Rose Saunders.

The fish and game association will not be meeting this month. Their next regular meeting is set for August 28, 7:30 p.m. in the Breton civic centre.

Water problems

At the cemetery

The town is looking into the water problems in the new cemetery.

At their last meeting, council awarded a $6,600 contract to EBA Engineering to investigate the problem.

EBA Engineering plan to identify the source of the problem, come up with alternate solutions for de-watering and designs.

The town had received four quotes for the work. Hydrogeological Consultants quoted $7,000 followed by EBA at $6,600, next was Hardy & Associates with $5,960 and Hyarospec Consulting

Council were told that, while EBA's price was higher than Hardy & Associates, their proposal seemed to supply what is needed for the investigation.

This TransAlta Utility employee was a little embarrassed recently when a large transformer fell off the back of their truck as they turned off Highway 22 onto 56 Street. In a matter of minutes, the transformer was loaded, and the crew went on their way.

Town goes with highest quote

Town council have decided to go with the highest quote for their transportation study.

Council have awarded the study contract to G.C.G Dillon for $18,950. Other quotes included $14,750 from Stanley & Associates, $14,880 from U.M.A. Engineering and $14,100 from Reid Crowther.

A report to council stated that G.C.G. Dillon had more experience in similar kinds of studies for other towns.

The transportation study calls for evaluation analysis of traffic flow patterns, width and parking of the roadways, of existing parking space available, major intersections on 50 Avenue and 50 Street, all existing crosswalk lights on 50 Ave and 50 Street, evaluation of boulevards between curbs and separate sidewalks and a projection of the traffic flow at the Sturdi Wood plant. They will also look at the sidewalk situation.

The town will be looking for reports on the bottlenecks in the existing system with proposed solutions and cost analysis, future requirements for road widening, signal lights, crosswalks and traffic lanes, a sidewalk replacement policy and a boulevard upgrading policy.

Tomahawk tax plea falls on deaf ears

A county resident's plea for forgiveness of about $900 in tax arrears fell on deaf ears at county council's July 9 meeting.

Tomahawk area resident Ben Richter's appearance before council resurrected a four year-old conflict between Richter, who claims he's unfairly penalized for taxes that arose after a land deal fell through, and the county which says it is following normal tax collection procedures.

Richter, who was to have sold some of his land to a buyer in 1980, said he never received a tax notice for the land that was rezoned country residential when a prospective buyer moved on to his property.

Despite a notice from a lawyer jointly retained by Richter and the buyer, asking the county to forward taxes to the purchaser, Richter has always held title to the land.

He said a two-year, five on clause ensured he would keep farming the land until it was [illegible]

Richter appeared before council last summer asking for the same cancellation of [illegible]

Council then denied the request and this spring a caveat (lien) was placed on Richter's property. If taxes remain unpaid for a year, the land is disposed through a tax sale.

"It's like talking to a stone wall talking to you guys," Richter told council.

"If a man's land is worth a certain amount of dollars, that's what he should be taxed at."

Richter said he would have been willing to pay tax arrears on the land zoned for farming but not the county residential rates applied to the property in question.

But Reeve Maurice McCullagh said, "I think it was an acceptable practice that when a farmer made a notice (to the county) to send the taxes to the owner that's what we do."

County administrator Otto Schuster said later under a sales agreement, taxes have to be paid by the purchaser. "The purchaser has the same rights as the owner with a title.

"I suspect what happened there is that the purchaser defaulted on the payments."

Taxes are charged against the land, not the purchaser, he said.

Schuster said Richter can't take his case to the Court of Revision. They only deal with assessments. Council can cancel arrears, if it has a "valid reason."

Council approved a motion stating they acted in accordance with taxation act. They suggested Richter take legal action against the former purchaser. But according to Richter, "If I'd known about the taxes I would have paid them. We had no way of knowing." He assumed the purchaser had paid the taxes because he didn't get a notice.

He added he had to spend $1,700 to restore the house after the purchaser vacated in 1984.

Few people understand the tax laws, he said and many people have appeared before council about their [illegible]

Johnsons attended Red Deer hereford show

By Alma Johnson

Ralph and Colleen Johnson and boys of Lloyd minister were weekend visitors at his parents' home.

All members of the Johnson family attended a family picnic at the Keith Wiedrick home near Busby recently. Because of the rainy weather, it was held indoors and enjoyed by all.

Allen and Shirley Johnson of Ilderton, Ont. stopped in at the Norm Johnson home on their way home from Expo. The men are cousins and had never met before. They brought along a photo album of ancestory of grandfathers.

Edward, Carmel and Nicole Law of Australia are visiting his parents and other relatives for a few weeks.

Glenn and Charlene Johnson attended the hereford cattle show at the Red Deer Westerner Exposition. A two-year old heifer and calf, owned by Pine Crick Ranch of Bluffton and Rafter N Ranch, were winners of their individual classes and were named grand champion female of the show.

Get well wishes go to Jack Robinson who spent a few days in the Drayton Valley hospital.

Laura Tofty and grandson Ralph Rockwell are visiting relatives in Calgary and Drumheller for a couple of weeks.

Busy clean-up

By Alma Johnson

The Baker family held a reunion at Entwistle on a recent Sunday. Mr Baker Sr is recovering from recent surgery.

Norm and Alma Johnson attended the "World Series of fastball" at Camrose July 20. Teams from Kelowna, Invermere, Calgary, Camrose, Red Deer, Grande Prairie, Edmonton and Saskatoon were in uniform. Son Ralph catches for the Lloyd minster Bar Fives, who played three games on wet, soggy grounds.

Many folks are busy cleaning up after the flooding of the Pembina River. The Schenk and Chambers families were among those affected by the high waters.

In Memoriam

CARTER, Alice Alma

In loving memory of our dear husband, father & grandfather James McGinn who passed away Aug 16, 1988.

Ever remembered & sadly missed by his loving wife Shirlee, son Lyle & family

MULVIN, Peter

In loving memory of Peter husband, father & grandfather who passed away Aug. 5, 1994

Days of sadness still some in ur us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you died two years ago.
No pain can write, no tongue can tell,
Our sad and grief filled hearts
But God alone has helped us well,
To bear our heavy cross
The rolling stream of life rolls on,
But still the waters flow,
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile
Of the one who once sat there,
We think of him in silence,
We speak of him at times,
There is nothing left to grieve,
Only the pictures left with us,
And memory fond and dear,
His troubled nights are past,
As long as life and memory last,
We shall remember thee

Ever remembered & sadly missed by wife Olga, son Sam, daughter-in-law Donna & grandchildren David & Nicole

THE ALBERTA PRESS COUNCIL

Any person or persons believing they have an unsatisfied grievance against any of the Alberta daily or weekly newspaper members of the Alberta Press Council, may now refer such a matter to the Council. Written complaints are to be addressed to:

THE ALBERTA PRESS COUNCIL
Executive Secretary,
12334 Lake Fraser Way, S.E.
Calgary, Alberta T2J 2E5

Statements of complaint in writing will be received by the Council subject to the following provisions.

1. Once a complaint is accepted for investigation, the complaint the newspaper involved will be notified and his observations invited.

2. The grievance must be of a specific nature, but the person making the complaint need not be personally or directly affected by the publication.

3. Council arrives at its conclusions on the basis of written representations, but it may invite concerned persons to appear before it to amplify their views.

4. The Council deals with complaints against individual journalists. Editors accept responsibility for contents of their newspapers.

5. The Council has no statutory power and is not a court of law, but it will hold cases and report its conclusions.

Alberta newspapers agree to publish all the decisions of the Council in area bulletins that regularly newspaper.

6. Any complaint involving an Alberta newspaper which is not one of the member newspapers will be forwarded to the newspaper concerned, but will not be dealt with by Council unless requested to do so by that newspaper.

The Alberta Press Council consists of 17 members, one lay-person and one press representative from each of the seven daily newspaper members and the Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association, and a Chairman. The lay-members are not professionally associated with the media but are representative of the reading public most closely affected by the newspaper in their area. The chairman is never a professional media person and he, together with the other lay persons, constitutes a voting majority in the membership.

It is the aim of the Council to serve as a medium of understanding between press and public, to encourage adherence by newspapers to the highest ethical and commercial standards of journalism, to guard against infringement of press freedoms, and to help maintain a high level of press responsibility.

The following are members of the Press Council:

Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association
The Calgary Herald — The Edmonton Journal
The Grande Prairie Daily Herald-Tribune — The Fort McMurray Today
The Medicine Hat News — The Lethbridge Herald
